Alex J.	The call-to-action buttons on the homepage are not prominent enough. They should stand out more against the background.	Yes, Actionable.	I will increase the size of the call-to-action buttons and use a more vibrant color to ensure they catch the user's attention. Additionally, I will add a subtle drop shadow to create depth, making the buttons more noticeable.
Maria S.	The logo is repeated too many times across the site, which could be distracting. Consider reducing the redundancy.	Yes, Actionable.	I will remove the repeated logos on the same page, keeping only the primary logo in the header and footer. This will reduce visual clutter and allow users to focus more on the content without unnecessary repetition.
David L.	The copyright text at the bottom of the page is too large/prominent and takes away from the overall design.	Yes, Actionable.	I will decrease the font size of the copyright text and adjust the spacing around it to make it less dominant, ensuring it remains informative but doesn't detract from the page's visual appeal.
